New $100 bill has sophisticated 3-D forgery protection

The eye-catching features of the redesigned $100 bill include a 3-D ribbon that runs from top to bottom. It contains images of $100 and the Liberty Bell which appear to move when the bill is tilted. The bill also has a portrait watermark, a second security thread, and a Liberty Bell image that turns from copper to a green color when tilted.

The bell appears to disappear depending on the angle from which it's viewed. And the face of the bill shows a ghostly image of a quill pen.

Because there are more than half a trillion “Benjamins” in circulation around the world, it has been a prime target for counterfeiters, usually from criminal gangs.

There is evidence linking the most realistic and dangerous counterfeits with the North Korean government, whose goal is to weaken the American economy. These two threats are behind the dramatic changes in the $100 bill.

Benjamin Franklin designed the country's first paper money. Continental dollars were used in the American Revolution to help pay for the war.

On many of the bills, this warning was printed: "To counterfeit is DEATH."

Celebrate the 4th safely

The Fourth of July is usually a fun time filled with parades, grilling, camping, fireworks and boating. A trip to the emergency room cuts that fun short. Following a few safety tips can make this holiday a pleasant recollection, not a painful memory.

Camping: Build your campfire away from overhead branches, dry leaves and dry grass. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away and never leave your campfire unattended. Drown the fire with water and move all rocks away. Embers can lurk beneath them.

Grilling and picnicking: Marinate your meat in the refrigerator not on the counter. Keep your cold foods refrigerated or in a cooler until ready to eat. If you are grilling, use a clean plate for your cooked food. The cooked food should never be placed on a platter that held the raw meat.

Discard any food left out for more than two hours and in hot weather one hour would be a safer bet.

Fireworks: The National Council on Fireworks Safety warns never to relight a "dud" firework. Wait 20 minutes and soak the "dud" in a bucket of water.

Remember that sparklers burn hot. The recommendation is that only persons over the age of twelve should handle them. Always have water handy and do not alter or combine fireworks. Follow the laws set up in your area and do not buy illegal fireworks.

Boating and water sports: Always avoid using alcohol when boating or swimming. When boating, wear a life jacket and be sure everyone on the boat, including children, is wearing a life jacket. Use sunscreen. Do not swim alone and only dive in safe areas. If the weather turns stormy, leave the water.

The Big Three for the Grill

Man's love affair with grilling goes all the way back to the invention of fire, and to that first prehistoric cook who accidentally dropped a raw piece of meat onto the glowing coals.

Since then, techniques for grilling have been honed and improved. Great varieties of grills can be found. They range in price from a small tabletop grill that uses charcoal to big grills in stainless steel cabinets powered by propane.

Below are three short recipes for a surefire backyard cookout.

Balsamic-glazed sirloin

Start with four half-pound strips of lean sirloin steak.

5 tablespoons Balsamic vinegar

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce 1/2 stick melted butter

Add salt and pepper to taste

Score steaks diagonally and brush both sides with butter. Dust with salt and pepper.

Mix the vinegar and Worcestershire sauce in a dish and brush the steaks with the mixture as they cook.

Spicy baked beans

Add these ingredients to two 15-oz. cans of pork and beans.

6 pieces bacon in small pieces

1/2 cup brown sugar

1/2 cup barbecue sauce

12 dashes Louisiana hot sauce

Mix in a grill-proof pan, and set on a medium-heat area of the grill before grilling the meat. Stir occasionally until it's bubbling.

Perfect grill corn

6 ears corn on the cob

1/2 stick, melted butter salt to taste

Carefully peel the husks back on the ears of corn and remove corn silk. Brush the corn inside with the melted butter and add dashes of salt. Put the husks back in place and soak the corn in water for a few minutes

Place the corn in its husks on the grill in a position of medium heat. Turn frequently until charred spots start to appear on the husks. Cooking should take about 10 to 15 minutes. Check for tenderness.

Add your favorite summertime drink and a wedge of watermelon for a great backyard picnic.
